

We're on the lookout for a great Account Director.

Are you an ambitious and talented B2B Account Director looking for an opportunity to let your skills shine? Can you turn your hand as easily to developing communications strategies as you can to nurturing client relationships and managing a team? Want to join a team that does great work with people who are equally great to work with?

If so, we need you!

If you're sick of working for your current agency, come and work with a group of people who rate compassion as highly as skill set. We believe that it's possible to deliver our best for our clients without running yourself into the ground.

We'd consider full-time or part-time applications, with some work being handled remotely. But, some of the week will need to be spent in our office in Crowborough – otherwise how can you truly feel part of our team?!

We might not be the biggest agency in the county, but with significant growth year on year, this could be a move that sets you up for an exciting future.

As Account Director at Morton Waters you will:

- Be responsible for fully understanding the clients' business priorities and targets, and devise marketing strategies to support their goals
- Coordinate writers, designers and account execs to deliver quality work that is in line with the clients' marketing strategies
- Be aware of market trends to pro-actively propose ideas to help clients capitalise on opportunities or avoid potential challenges
- Help to shape and lead the agency-wide process for growing existing accounts and reaching new prospects to help develop a BD pipeline
